Note: All lists below may be out of date! The following is a list of Guild 2 addons & patches. I'd like to mention that this is merely my list and should not be taken as fact. You should always check your local repositories for the latest list of addons and patches. There is a community manager on the official forums who maintains a list of official addons and patches (). If there is a specific patch/addon listed here that doesn't appear on the community manager's list, please tell me! Addons/Patches are listed below alphabetically, and are separated by major sections. Enchants Agrarian's Blessings Agrarian's Blessings adds a lot of new cosmetics to the game, including a pile of new colors for your clothing, a beautiful and elegant new outfit, a new helmet, new head pieces, new jewelry and a new sword.

This mod adds all of these awesome new pieces of equipment to your character and removes everything from the game that you do not need in a game that is supposed to be about exploring and killing. No items that don't add any value to the game are in this mod, and many of these items are quite high quality. This is a very large mod, and is currently up to a version of v1.9.2. Animated Special Effects With this mod, monsters will run away from you, they will attack you, and they will attack each other when attacked. They will scream, and they will all fall over dead. Best of all, they all obey the player. Every other effect in this mod has been replaced by real monsters that will hurt you if they see you, and they will hurt you. The running away from you is completely random, and is done automatically. The attack to you is also completely random and is completely based on your positioning and movement. If you walk into a group, they will attack each other. If you stand still and look tough, they will attack each other. If you taunt a group, they will all attack each other. The fall over dead is completely random. The screaming can be as loud as you like, and is also random. Also, if you walk into a group of screaming monsters, they will scream louder. All of these effects are completely dynamic, and allow for total customization 82157476af
